

Do You Enjoy Natural Scenic Beauty?

Seems foolish to ask. Most everyone does. Maybe you don't know it, but up the river will be found some wonderful scenic beauty. Some places are of such noticeable grandeur that it has been seen fit to name them: The Devil's Staircase, The House Cave, The Colored Rocks, The Big Hills and many others. To properly view this scenery a good boat is the best requisite. Our boats are always in top notch condition and will get you there and back safely. Our rates are not high and for service rendered, we leave it to you on your return—if it is not the best. Boats will be held on orders received in advance.

Should you desire an early fishing trip on a Sunday morning you can obtain boats and minnows here at any hour.

MANY STUNTS FOR FIFTH IN BROOKHEAD

Big Celebration to be Pulled Off in Green County City Day After the Fourth.

(Special to the Gazette.) Brookhead, July 1.—Preparations for celebrating the nation's birthday are about completed and a grand time is arranged for all who come to Brookhead for the day. Two balloon ascensions and two high dives, besides a very fast ball game and many other attractions, with plenty of music, a fine display of fireworks and a big dance in the evening, promise ample amusement for all classes.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Zahn, on Saturday, June 26th, a baby girl.

At a recent meeting of the Green County Training School board, M. L. Kearney of this city was chosen president; J. C. Penn, of Monroe, secretary; and S. A. Schneider, of Monticello, treasurer. An effort will be made to have the school temporarily located at Brookhead and a meeting of citizens will be held in the council chamber next Tuesday evening for that purpose.

The Congregational Sunday school held their annual picnic today at Decatur Park. The Methodists will hold their picnic at the same place on Friday.

Mrs. W. P. Sayles of Janesville came up from that city on Tuesday and has been the guest of Mrs. Al. Huxter. In company with Mrs. Chas. Banks the above mentioned ladies picked at Decatur Park on Wednesday.

Will Koppeler, who has been making his home in Philadelphia, Pa., for some years past, is expected home in the early fall to take charge of his father's shoe cobbler shop.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Roberts of Albany, passed through Brookhead, Tuesday on a trip through the west. They will visit in Kalkpel, Mont., Seattle, Wash., Canada, and other parts while absent.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bucklin took their departure Wednesday morning for Redfield, S. Dak., where they will spend some time with Rex Bucklin. Later they will visit the exposition at Seattle. They will be joined in two or three weeks by their daughter, Miss Vinola Bucklin. They will remain in the west until fall.

Miss Grace Miller of Juda came down from that village, Wednesday, to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stuart.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Martin and a party of friends from Chicago arrived here last evening to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Martin, and will spend some time camping at Decatur Park.

L. E. Barnum, Orfordville's photographer, was united in marriage to Miss Rosa E. Van Valkenburgh, of Woodman, Wis., on Saturday, June 26, 1909, at the home of Mrs. L. W. Crow, by Rev. J. A. Vincent of the M. E. church of that village. They will be at home to their friends in Orfordville after July 15th.

Will Durner spent the fore part of the week in Milwaukee with relatives. Sixty members of the local O. E. S. went to Albany on Tuesday where they enjoyed a picnic with members of the order of that place and others from Evansville, Monroe and elsewhere. They report a most excellent time.

J. B. Pierce returned Tuesday evening from a fishing trip at Bear Lake.

CONFARMHAND QUITE BADLY BURNED BY EXPLOSION

Man Working on Duthie Farm Near Clinton Burned About Hands and Legs Yesterday.

(Special to the Gazette.) Clinton, July 1.—A laborer working with a ditching crew on the Wm. Duthie, Jr. farm north of town badly burned his left leg from the knee down, his foot and his right hand by an explosion of gasoline Wednesday afternoon. He was brought to town and Dr. W. O. Thomas dressed the injuries.

Mrs. Hayden Stewart of Madison arrived here Wednesday evening to visit with her parents and sisters. O. L. Woodward and O. H. Florida went to Palmira and Milton Junction Wednesday inspecting plum gardens and returned home more than pleased with the showing their own gardens are making, and if blight does not strike them have every reason to expect a big crop.

The J. J. Joneses were granted by our village board an adjourned meeting last Wednesday evening. There is some talk as to the legality of the matter regarding proper notice, etc.

Mrs. Minnie O. Crane gave a very fine luncheon Monday afternoon in honor of her nieces. The Misses Jewess of Canada are visiting her.

Mrs. Thos. A. Ames entertains a few ladies at tea Thursday evening. Mrs. Emaline L. C. Hatch and Mrs. B. Kizer went to Rockford, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Baker of Whitewater are here attending the Wilkins-Latta nuptials.

Leon Mayberry returned Tuesday from Texas and Missouri, he having been in no latter state since April. The Misses Martha and Minnie Klingebell of Shoshone spent Tuesday here guests of their brother, Robert, and family.

Miss Margery Mayberry returned last Monday from the Art Institute in Chicago to spend the summer vacation here with her mother.

Miss Edna Woolson, who is principal of the State School for Feeble Minded Children at Chippewa Falls, returned home for the summer vacation Wednesday morning. She has been hired for the coming year at a substantial increase in salary.

Miss Floy Rose of Madison is a guest at the F. R. Helmer home, Highland Park avenue.

J. Q. Shmons and family came up from Harvard, Wednesday, to attend the Wilkins-Latta wedding and Thursday they went to Delavan lake, where they will occupy the Lee-Simons cottage on the assembly grounds for the summer.

The wedding of Milford Wilkins and Miss Lola Latta took place at the home of the bride's parents, two and a half miles north of town, Roy, Idaho, Tuesday evening. The young couple left immediately for Delavan lake, where they will spend their honeymoon at the Wilkins cottage on the assembly grounds.

London.—A suicide in London attracts little attention, even when it involves people of much prominence, but when a suicide has been kept a secret it becomes a subject of government investigation. In the Vanderbilt divorce case Mrs. Mary Ruiz was named as correspondent and through the efforts, it is said, of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, the death of Mrs. Ruiz has been kept secret for four weeks. It is now maintained that she committed suicide in despair over the lack of attention on the part of Mr. Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Ruiz has had a checkered career, leading from a country farm to a place in London society. She was beautiful and loved the spectacular. Mary Agnes O'Brien started in life in St. Louis as a hosiery maker's daughter. Her father was Charles O'Brien. The O'Briens lived at Ninth street and Cass avenue when Mary Agnes was born.

She early rebelled against the restraints which her parents sought to impose. One of her adventures, recalled by those who knew her as a child, was running away from home and going to New Orleans. When she died of that city she returned to St. Louis, beating her way on freight trains.

Young St. Louis gallants of that period contended for her favor. She

MRS. MARY AGNES O'BRIEN RUIZ, WHO IS SAID TO HAVE COMMITTED SUICIDE ON ACCOUNT OF ALFRED G. VANDERBILT.

London.—A suicide in London attracts little attention, even when it involves people of much prominence, but when a suicide has been kept a secret it becomes a subject of government investigation. In the Vanderbilt divorce case Mrs. Mary Ruiz was named as correspondent and through the efforts, it is said, of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, the death of Mrs. Ruiz has been kept secret for four weeks. It is now maintained that she committed suicide in despair over the lack of attention on the part of Mr. Vanderbilt.

Mary Agnes O'Brien started in life in St. Louis as a hosiery maker's daughter. Her father was Charles O'Brien. The O'Briens lived at Ninth street and Cass avenue when Mary Agnes was born.

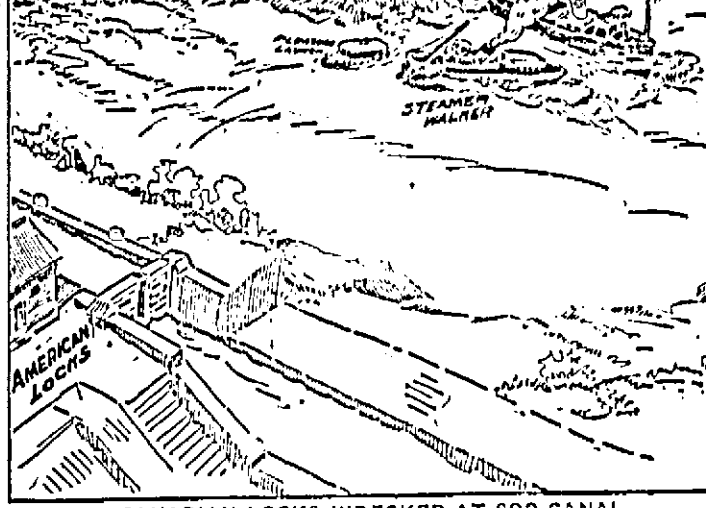

She early rebelled against the restraints which her parents sought to impose. One of her adventures, recalled by those who knew her as a child, was running away from home and going to New Orleans. When she died of that city she returned to St. Louis, beating her way on freight trains.

Young St. Louis gallants of that period contended for her favor. She east them all aside when a rich Californian besought her to marry him. They were married and went to Chicago to live. He died there and left her $50,000. She went to New York, and in her letters to an elderly woman friend she told of achieving as a show girl, under the name of Ruth Hilton. As a show girl she attracted the attention of Antonio Ruiz of the Cuban legation at Washington. He sent a note to her, seeking an acquaintance, and after a short courtship he married her. Her marriage gave her entrance to Washington society.

One of her diversions was riding in Central park. One morning something went wrong with her riding saddle bridle. Alfred Vanderbilt was riding by. He went to her assistance. That was the beginning of their friendship.

Mrs. Ruiz and her husband had had discord and were separated. He sued for divorce. The case was heard before a referee, and the name of the correspondent was not divulged. After Vanderbilt had been sued for divorce he went to London. Mrs. Ruiz went there later. In London Vanderbilt's attentions to Mrs. Ruiz were so open that some time ago there were reports that they were to be married. Then came the death of Mrs. Ruiz and the mystery of it all, which is attracting attention in two continents.

Up-to-Date Dental Office

He in and let me show you the latest advances made in Dental Science these days. The clumsy methods of yesterday are of the past. In my office electricity now furnishes the Power for the drilling.

Light for the little lamp that can be placed far back in the mouth and gives light to detect obscure troubles. Warm the air for the drying out of the teeth before filling.

Turn the mallet which holds the point into the tooth.

Hold the sterilizer which cleans each instrument after its use.

Run the bath for finishing plates and gold crowns, etc.

There is no more up-to-date Dental office in Wisconsin than I have right here in Janesville.

Let me show you how to have Dental done right.

FINED FOR RIDING ON THE SIDEWALKS

Oscar Erdmann, Who Lives on Ringold Street Was the First Offender to Pay Penalty.

While riding a bicycle on an Oakland avenue sidewalk yesterday, Oscar Erdmann, who lives on Ringold street, was stopped by Officer Patrick Manning and informed that it would be necessary for him to appear in municipal court this morning. He kept the appointment and told Judge Field that he had not seen the warning that the Chief of Police had caused to be posted in the newspapers a few days ago and that he had chosen the walk for a speedway because "everybody else was doing it." After giving Mr. Erdmann a severe lecture, the court levied the minimum fine of $1 together with costs, amounting in all to $3.50. Other arrests are likely to follow.

WILL PUT STOP TO FIRECRACKER EVIL

Patrolmen Have Received Instructions to Arrest Those Engaged in Premature Celebration.

Chief Appleby had the riot act last evening to four youths and adults who were caught in the act of setting off fireworks and escorted them to his office. It is against the law at all times of the year to use explosives within the city limits but it is tolerated by common consent, within certain limits, on Independence Day, and that day only. If parties persist in this premature celebration, they will be arrested and without further ceremony.

SPECIALLY HONORED A FORMER RESIDENT

Miss Mary Cunningham Given M. A. Degree by Occidental College at Los Angeles, California.

In the Los Angeles Times for June 17th, the following interesting item relative to a former Janesville lady and a sister of Herbert Cunningham, is printed:

"Occasionally it happens that honors seek the man—or woman—instead of vice versa, and when this happens, it is abundant evidence that such honors are deserved. Right here we have a case in point.

"Yesterday morning as the faculty of Occidental College filed into the platform resplendent in the regalia of rank and degree, for the annual commencement exercises, there was in that procession a modest little woman, clad in her sober cap and gown, who carried herself with quiet dignity and, as is always her custom, sought a seat in the farthest row of chairs in the least conspicuous position. It is her habit, although for years Miss Mary Cunningham, professor of history, has been recognized by patrons of the college, by the student body, by the faculty, and the trustees as one of the strongest intellectual and spiritual forces of that institution.

"When, at the conclusion of the graduating exercises, this gifted woman was called forward from her seat in the rear row and the degree of M. A. conferred upon her by the college, such a roar of applause went up from that hall as fairly woke the echoes of the hills surrounding it. The entire student body, the hundreds of personal friends of Miss Cunningham there assembled, and especially the graduating class, went wild with enthusiasm, and class yells, shouts of applause and the waving of handkerchiefs demonstrated the joy that justice had been done to this cultured and refined woman—the loved and revered 'class mother' of the thirty-six loyal sons and daughters of the institution who yesterday received their degrees.

"Occidental College honored itself in honoring Miss Cunningham."

WITH A GAS RANGE

There is every opportunity to cook things in countless ways. The range will give any desired heat and is equipped to perform any method of cooking instantly.

With a gas range the constant fixing of the fire is done away with. You leave your range when you are done cooking, and when you come back to prepare the next meal, it is ready for instant heat again. No fuel has been wasted in starting or after the meal is cooked. There is no dust, dirt, ashes accumulating, and the room is cool and healthful.

A Cabinet Gas Range, as illustrated, has 5 burners - one double burner, three single burners and one simmering burner, a baking oven, a warming oven and broiling oven, all heated with same burner. The ovens are placed high, obviating the necessity of stooping. The range is built high, permitting easy sweeping of floor under it. It is fitted with hood. The cost is $30.00; other style Gas Ranges at $13.50 and up. Terms 1-3 cash and the balance in six equal monthly payments. All styles of Gas Ranges are shown in our display room.

PANY BEING MOVED.

WAS BUILT YEARS AGO

Structure Was Part Of Scheme Of "Windy" Hamilton To Boom Janesville.If good weather holds, five or six more days should mark the completion of the journey which the new addition to the Caloric Company has been making over tracks, swamps, roads and fields from its original foundation in Spring Brook to its new location in the rear of the Caloric Company's present building. Peter J. Goss, representative of the Owen Goss House Moving Company of Milwaukee, who have the contract for moving the building, is the authority for the above statement.(When the journey is completed, the building will have crossed three trucks, two roads, a swamp and several gulches, or, in all, a distance of nearly a mile. The cut above represents the building in what was perhaps its most interesting position, that of crossing the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul R.
R. at a point immediately behind the Hough State buildings.Some indication of the care and exactness with which the blocks and stringers had to be placed can be seen when it is known that at this point the rear of the building was twenty feet above the ground. The structure itself, which in the neighborhood of two hundred tons, is over fifty feet wide, 150 feet long, and three stories high.Before it could be moved, it was necessary to place heavy beams under its whole length, as the building had originally been built upon the foundations without walls. In order to insure safe journey, and to keep the building steady every important beam and pillar on the inside, on all three floors, was shored up with heavy braces.That this has served its purpose can easily be seen by glancing along the pillars which are in perfect alignment or along the perfectly level surface of any of the floors.In addition to the care which had to be taken on account of the weight and size of the structure while crossing the tracks, it was necessary that there should be no possible chance of a slip for had the building become lodged on the tracks, and delayed the mail trains, the consequences would have been serious. A time limit of five hours was set, but it was not necessary to elude the full time as the crossing was made in an hour and a quarter last Friday morning.To do this it was necessary to build a sort of block trestle nearly 200 feet in length on the south side of the track so that the warehouse could be pulled over without any waste of time in setting runners. The only serious difficulty which has been encountered was during the heavy rains of last week when the soggy condition of the ground, which was almost a marsh, made it impossible to get the horses near enough to the building to do any work.The proposed addition to the Florsless Cooker has had an interesting history and it looks at present as though it will be really utilized. It was, when first built, a part of the gigantic scheme of the Springfield, O., financier, "Windy" Hamilton, whose industrial operations were responsible for the building of the leading manufacturing centers of the country. This was in the early nineties.Lots in the Victor and Hamilton additions were sold to finance the undertaking, several buildings were built, then the bubble burst. During the early part of the boom, the Spring Brook building was occupied by several small factories, but later passed into the hands of James P. Field, who leased it to S. B. Hedges as a tobacco warehouse.Several months ago, the Caloric Company, who are planning on enlarging their plant, secured possession and the derelict will now be put to some good use.BAND'S PROPERTY IS

M. C. A. Band, Money and Lot at Lake Delavan Turned Over Last Night.Last evening a called meeting of the members of the old Y. M. C. A. band was held at the association building to dispose of the property of the organization. During the years of its active existence the band accumulated considerable property. Besides the instruments and uniforms they also had the title to a piece of land in the Assembly Grounds at Delavan Lake and about one hundred dollars in money, which has been placed at interest in one of the local banks.
The property at Lake Delavan, which is considerably over a good-sized lot, has been given over to the association and the money is also left, on condition that it form the starter for a building fund for the erection of a cottage on the grounds. The instruments and the equipment have been given to the Y. M. C. A. unconditionally, but these will be held in trust in case the band should decide to start up again. The organization will remain intact and the same officers will hold over, E. P. Lewis acting as president, Oscar Bucken of Milwaukee as secretary, and William Brunson as treasurer.

day's outing on a steamboat leaving the dock at 8:30 this morning. Henry M. Hanson was chosen as orator of the day and following the big basket dinner, his address and a series of athletic contests engrossed the attention of the picnickers. These contests included a five-innings baseball game, a multi-relay contest for ladies, the prize being a salad dish; a horse race for a pocket-knife; married ladies' and married men's races for jarrah-boards; a pleasing contest for a

CAPTAIN KIDD TO BE HERE MONDAYSENDS WORD HE AND HIS FA-MOUS SHIP WILL COME FOR PARADE.

D. K. JEFFRIS GIVES CUP

Handsone Loving Cup for Best Pony Rig in Nonesuch Dros.'s Parade on July 5th.Along with the Flying Dutchman and other mythical tales of childhood, Captain Kidd, the bold pirate, stands at the fore front in the minds of everyone. His wonderful treasure which is still sought for by the believers along the Atlantic coast, has never been found despite the fact Kidd flourished and died in the long ago.
From the realm of Nowhere, Colonel George McKee has received a wireless dispatch from Captain Kidd that he will be in Janesville Monday next to take part in the big "Nonesuch Dros." parade. Perhaps he will tell where his treasure is hidden.Roosevelt Coming Colonel McKee has also received definite word from Colonel Roosevelt that he will come by parachute for the day and that with a band of his cavalry hussars will appear in the parade. He has engaged the "Wrong Rig" already for the trip and the attachment itself will also be an exhibition. McKee will also have a party of savages who will be wrapped in but a smile, who have been waiting and watching for Roosevelt and will also come to see that he does not escape them.The Columbias Colonel McKee has also secured accommodations for the Columbias, "Forty-eight Coal Black Stallions," at the Ruger farm east of the city. This wonderful musical organization, an aggregation of wonderful leatherstock-ing, will give a concert in front of the Court House park and on the Corn Exchange immediately following the parade. It is the largest and most unique musical organization in the world and one which puts in the show even the five fine bands that have been engaged to furnish music for the day.Elephant Herd The wonderful herd of trained elephants is also here. They are most wonderful creatures and cut as much as two men apiece. Their strange gyrations on the afternoon of the parade will delight the crowds. Aside from this there will be dens of wild beasties from all parts of the civilized globe—large Numidian tigers, strange wild lions, small but ferocious canines wonderful to see and fearful to look upon, dens of snakes, strange reptiles from the cotton factory district and plenty of open fairs.Good Entertainments The amusement committee promise something sensational in the street performances. They have secured the best that can be found and it will be a gala portion of the big day's festivities. The street decoration committee also is laying extra plans for the lighting and decoration of the streets and stores, adding to the gaiety of the scene.More Money Needed In fact so elaborate are the plans for the day that Chairman Wortendyke has issued a hurry-call for more money. He urges all who have not contributed to do so. Lists placed in different places can be signed and persons who have not been reached by the members of the finance committee can hand to Mr. Wortendyke their contributions and receive credit for them. It takes money to finance a celebration of the magnitude that Janesville is planning to celebrate and Mr. Wortendyke is most anxious to see it forthcoming.Morning Parade Chairman Eugene Fish still has places vacant in the morning parade and would be most glad to hear from husbandmen who will have floats or exhibits in the line. This is an important feature of the day's happenings and should not be overlooked.
Strangers from all parts of the state will be here as the fame of the celebration has spread to the four winds and the day promises to be one long remembered.DIVORCEES ARE HIT BY NEW STATE LAWDecrees Not In Force for One Year Cutting Off Quick Marriages.Hereafter marriages within one year after divorce has been obtained in Wisconsin will make the parties liable to prosecution on a criminal charge.
The new divorce law passed at the recent session of the legislature will go into effect tomorrow and persons seeking a divorce will find the pathway more thorny. The statute provides for the office of divorce counsel, to which Attorney Otto Oestreich has been appointed. The law, which is known as chapter 223 laws of 1909 provides judgment in divorce shall not be effective within one year.
In the past the law was such that a court might grant permission for a divorced party to re-marry within a year. Then the legislature passed a new law taking away that right.Visit Other States.
Many divorced persons took advantage of the laws of other states by going there to be married. Several cases involving the construction of wills, where large sums of money were to be divided, came to the supreme court involving the construction of the marriage law and the court found that such marriages were null and void.But the new law of this year makes judgments of divorce non-effective until after one year. Therefore, although a divorce may have been obtained, the parties will still be married and not at liberty to re-marry within a year, and to do so would make them liable to the charge of bigamy.The new law also makes it necessary for the complaining party in a divorce suit to have had a residence in Wisconsin for two years. Previously one year's residence was all that was necessary to establish a residence for divorce.Can Gather Evidence.
The new office of divorce counsel is quasi-judicial in character. In any action to affirm or annul a marriageor in any action for a divorce, the plaintiff must serve upon the divorcee a copy of the complaint within in ten days after making service upon the defendant. No decree shall be granted by the court until the divorcee counsel shall have appeared in open court and, in behalf of the public, shall have made a fair and impartial presentation as to the merits of the case and the rights and interests of the parties.The counsel is empowered to issue subpoenas and to compel persons to testify under oath. In all such cases, if he finds facts that show either party has been guilty of an offense against the criminal laws, it shall be his duty to have a criminal complaint filed against the party and have him or her brought to trial on that charge.
Uniformity is sought.The findings and judgment of the court in every divorce action are to be submitted to the divorce counsel and he will receive a fee of $19 for each divorce case in which he participates, but the court may in its judgment require either party to pay a larger sum if the amount of time spent on the case warrants such an action.A SAFE INVESTMENT.

pired yesterday and not caring to take out a new one, Mrs. Margaret Walworth closed both the Union House bar and the hotel, itself, at eleven o'clock last evening. It is understood that Paul Bahr, whose application for a season ably reported upon at the council meeting Tuesday night, had made ar-

The BLACK BAG

By Louis Joseph Vance

Copyright, 1908, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.

"Haven't, my dear," cried Brentwick encouragingly.

"And your business, sir?" thundered Calendar, his face darkening, then to Dorothy, "You understand, I trust, what this means?" he demanded. "I offer you a home, and a good one. Refuse and you work for your living, my girl! You've forfeited your legacy!"

"I know, I know," she told him in cold disdain. "I am content. Won't you be kind enough to leave me alone?"

For a breath Calendar glowered over her. Then, "I presume," he observed, "that all these heroes are inspired by that whippersnapper Kirkwood. Do you know that he hasn't a brass farthing to bless himself with?"

"What has that?" cried the girl indignantly.

"Why, it has everything to do with me, my child. As you're doing parent I can't consent to your marrying nothing a year, for I surmise you intend to marry this Mr. Kirkwood, don't you?"

There followed a little interval of silence, while the warm blood flamed in the girl's face and the red lips trembled as she faced her tormentor. Then, with a quaver that escaped her control, "If Mr. Kirkwood asks me I shall," she stated very simply.

"That," interposed Kirkwood, "is completely understood." His gaze sought her eyes, but she looked away. "You forget that I am your father," sneered Calendar, "and that you are a minor. I can refuse my consent."

"But you won't," Kirkwood told him, with assurance.

The adventurer stared. "No," he agreed after slight hesitation; "no, I shan't interfere. Take her, my boy, if you want her, and a father's blessing into the bargain. The Lord knows I've troubles enough. A parent's lot is not what it's cracked up to be."

He paused, looking ironic. "But," deliberately, "there's still this other matter of the gladstone bag. I don't mind abandoning my parental authority when my child's happiness is concerned, but as for my property—"

"It is not your property," interrupted the girl.

"It was your mother's, dear child. It's now mine."

"I dispute that assertion," Kirkwood put in.

"You may dispute it till the cows come home, my boy. The fact will remain that I intend to take my property with me when I leave this room, whether you like it or not. Now, are you disposed to continue the argument, or may I count on your being sensible?"

"You may put away your revolver, if that's what you mean," said Kirkwood. "We certainly shan't oppose you with violence, but I warn you that Scotland Yard!"

"Oh, that's blown," the adventurer snorted in disgust. "I can sail circles round any foe that ever blew out of Scotland Yard! Give me an hour's start and you're free to do all the fanny business you're a mind to with—Scotland Yard!"

"Then you admit," queried Brentwick civilly, "that you've no legal title to the jewels in dispute?"

"Look here, my friend," chuckled Calendar, "when you catch me admitting anything you tell it down in your little book and write the hobby on the corner. Just at present I've got other business than to stand round admitting anything about anything. Cap'n, let's have that bag of my dutiful daughter's."

"Are you are," Stryker spoke for the first time since entering the room, taking the valise from beneath the chair and depositing it on the table.

"Well, we shan't take anything that doesn't belong to us," laughed Calendar, fumbling with the catch, "not even so small a matter as my own child's traveling bag. A small—heavy—gladstone bag," he grunted, opening the valise and plunging in his greedy hand, "will—just—about—do for mine!" With which he produced the article mentioned.

"This for the discard, cap'n," he laughed contentedly, pushing the girl's valise aside, and, rumbling with stentorian mirth, stood beaming benignantly over the assembled company.

"Why," he exclaimed, "this moment is worth all it cost me! My children, I forgive you freely. Mr. Kirkwood, I forgive you cordially on having secured a most expensive wife. Really, d'you know, I feel as if I ought to do a little something for you both."

The thick, mottled fingers tore nervously at the catch. Eventually he got the bag open. Those about the table bent forward, all quickened by the prospect of for the first time beholding the treasure over which they had fought, for which they had suffered so long.

A heady and luscious fragrance pervaded the atmosphere, exhalant from the open mouth of the bag. A silence, infinitely sustained, impressed itself upon the little audience—a breathless pause ended eventually by a sharp snarl of Calendar's teeth. "Min-min!" granted the adventurer in bewilderment. He began to pant.

Abruptly his heavy hands delved into the contents of the bag, like the paws of a ferocious dog in earth. To Kirkwood the air seemed temporarily thick with flying objects. Beneath his astonished eyes a towel fell upon the table—a crumpled, soiled towel bearing on its dingy hem the inscription in indelible ink, "Hotel du Commerce, Antwerp."

A tooth mug of substantial earthenware dropped to the floor with a crash. A slimy soap dish of the same manufacture slid across the table and into Brentwick's lap. A battered alarm clock with never a tick left in its almost carcass rang vacuously as it fell by the open bag. The remainder was—orange, a dozen or more small, round, golden globes of ripe fruit, perhaps a shado overripe, therefore the more aromatic.

The adventurer ripped out an oath. "Multitude!" he raged in fury. "Done up! I swear! Done by that infernal snake—one, blind as a bat!"

He fell suddenly silent, the blood congesting in his face; as suddenly broke forth again, haranguing the company.

"That's why he went out and bought those oranges, is it? Think of it—me sitting in the hotel in Antwerp and him laughing in oranges by the bagful because he was fond of fruit! When did he do it? How do I know? If I knew, would I be here, and him the devil knows where this minute? When my back was turned, of course! That's why he was so hot about picking a fight on the boat, isn't? Wanted to get thrown off and take to the woods, leaving me with this! And that's why he felt so awful down he wouldn't take a hand at hunting you two down, hey? I'll camp on his trail for the rest of his natural born days! I'll have his eyeteeth for this!"

He swayed, gibbering with rage, his countenance frightfully contorted, his fat hands shaking as he struggled for expression.

And then, while yet their own astonishment held Dorothy, Kirkwood, Brentwick and Stryker speechless, Charles, the mechanic, moved suddenly upon the adventurer.

There followed two metallic clicks. Calendar's ravings were abruptly cut off as his tongue had been paralyzed. He fell back a pace, dabbly jaws pale and shaking, ponderous jaw dropping on his breast, mouth wide and eyes crazed as he shook violently before him his thick, fleshy wrists, securely handcuffed.

Simultaneously the bold mechanic whirled about, bounded eagerly across the floor and caught Stryker at the door, his dexterous fingers twisting in the captain's collar as he jerked him back and tripped him.

"Mr. Kirkwood," he cried, "here, please, one moment! Take this man's gun from him, will you?"

Kirkwood sprang to his assistance and without encountering much trouble succeeded in wresting a revolver from Stryker's limp, flaccid fingers.

Roughly the mechanic shook the man, dragging him to his feet. "Now," he ordered sternly, "you march to that corner, stick your nose in it and be good! You can't get away if you try. I've got other men outside, waiting for you to come out. Understand?"

Trembling like a whipped cur, Stryker meekly obeyed his instructions to the letter.

The mechanic, with a contemptuous laugh, leaving him, strode back to Calendar, meanwhile whipping off his "Philly, I meant it, every word!"

goggles, and clapped a hearty hand upon the adventurer's quaking shoulders.

"Well," he cried, "and are you still sailing circles round the men from Scotland Yard, Simmons or Bellows or Henderson or Calendar or Crumbstone, or whatever name you prefer to sail under?"

Calendar glared at him against, then heaved a profound sigh, shrugged his fat shoulders and bent his head in thought. An instant later he looked up. "You can't do it," he informed the detective solemnly. "You haven't got a shred of evidence against me! What's there? A pile of oranges and a peck of trash! What of it? Be sides," he threatened, "if you pinch

GEN. BELL PREDICTS WAR.

Chief of Staff Says There Are Indications of a Conflict.

Leavenworth, Kan., July 1.—Gen. J. Franklin Bell, chief of staff, in a speech before the army service schools at Fort Leavenworth at the graduation exercises declared his own indications of war and insisted that the day of international peace was far off.

"There is much talk of arbitration and peace congresses and it is even implied that there is to be no further use for armies and navies," said Gen. Bell. "There has never been a period of 20 years in the history of this country without a war. There are now indications which I need not dwell upon. There are causes for war that cannot be settled by arbitration."

Massachusetts Man Thought Dead Forty Years Returns Home.

Len, Mass., July 1.—George Hecox, who has been missing from Len for 45 years, has appeared there and made himself known to his wife who had during his long absence married another man and had been widowed.

Hecox went out with the Thirty-fourth Massachusetts regiment in the civil war, was wounded and long in a hospital and as he never returned home, was believed to have lost his life. Some years after his wife married Timothy Tucker. Hecox learned of this and decided to remain away, and the fact of his being alive was never disclosed until the death of Tucker paved the way for his return.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janeville Daily Gazette, July 1, 1899.—Drowned.—Two little boys, Eugene Davis and Willie Stroud, were playing upon Hume's bridge, near the Rock River house, last evening, when the latter accidentally fell into the river and was drowned before assistance could be rendered. The neighbors immediately turned out and search has been continued for the body, up to the time of going to press, yet without success. The mother, who recently lost her husband, is nearly crazy with grief.

At The Rink Last Evening.—The festival at the rink last evening by the ladies of All Souls' church was a success. The rink was beautifully decorated with flags and the refreshments were pronounced by the partakers thereof, as real refreshing. The bonnets were very beautiful and elicited the warmest expressions of admiration from all. We particularly noticed a magnificent one, arranged by Mrs. E. H. Strong, which sold for five dollars. The Bower City Band discoursed their excellent music and were the recipients of many compliments. The ladies sustained the well-earned reputation of being the most enjoyable of festalists. The proceeds amounted to nearly $175. We congratulate the ladies on their success.

Trotting.—In addition to all the other attractions in the county on Saturday, the 3d, and Monday, the 5th, there will be trotting matches in the driving park. Some of the best stock in the state is already here and in training at the park. A good time is expected.

Improvement.—The amount of building in the city was never greater than this season, new residences are going up on every block, and several blocks of fine stores are nearly completed. Our manufacturers are running at their full capacity and business is quite brisk. Milwaukee street is to be paved and other streets are being graded. Altogether the improvements of this year will greatly improve the city.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THE MIND," says Milton, "can make a Heaven of Hell, a Hell of Heaven."

So can some people.

On my way to my office I daily pass a little house which has on the left side a two by four piazza. And that scrap of a piazza is quite the pleasantest place on my whole route.

It hasn't always been by any means. Last year it wasn't a piazza at all but simply a back stoop. And then a very nice little woman moved into the house attached to the stoop and a wonderful transformation began to take place.

It has been going on ever since. As far as I can tell from the street, the reason for this transformation has been merely a mixture of green paint, a few flower boxes, a good deal of ingenuity, a little money and an infinite capacity for taking pains.

Freshly painted flower boxes filled with some little green sprouts that I am sure will sometime be beautiful mushrooms, an old wicker chair in a new green dress, a little settle built into the side of the house, painted green and upholstered with gay chintz cushions, a brand new wicker table usually littered with magazines, a scrap of gay carpet and two or three Japanese floor mats have appeared from time to time.

Every time I pass I look with eager interest for the latest addition. Last time I passed, the nice little woman was in the very act of planting a vine that some day will screen the erstwhile back stoop.

I shall be selfishly sorry when that happens, for it is such a very pretty spot. It is infinitely more inviting than many of the large, well built piazzas in my own neighborhood.

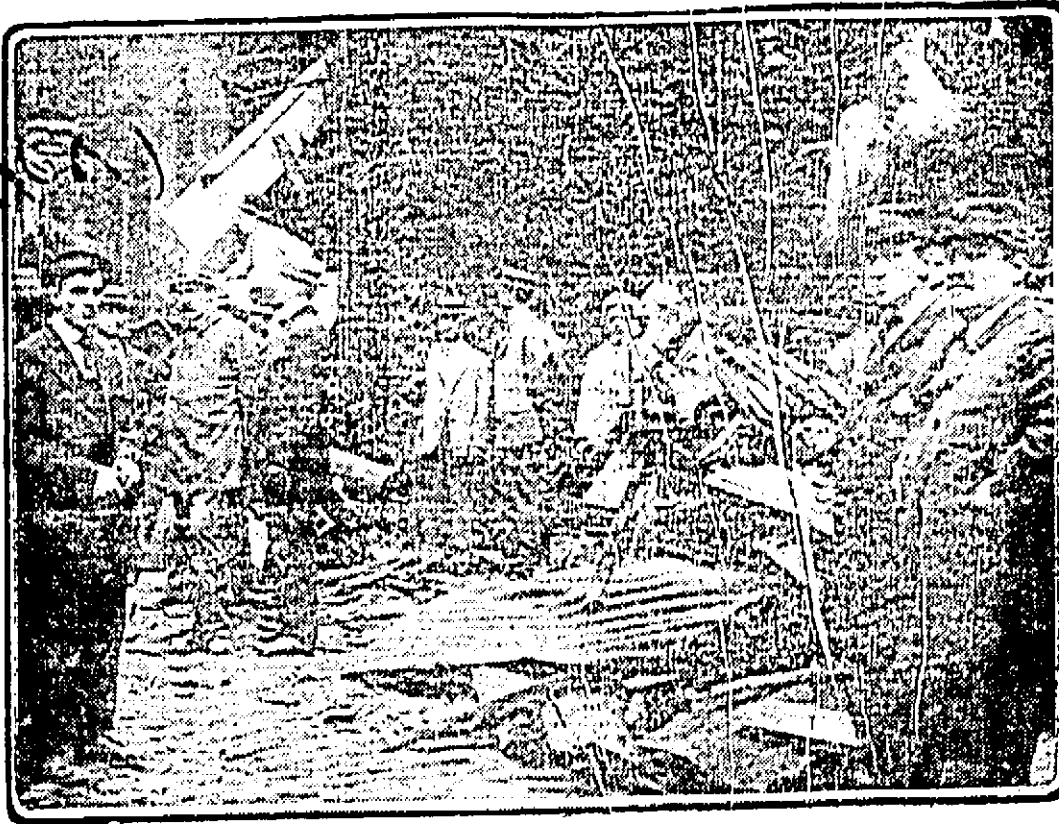

For in far too many houses where the inside of the house is furnished with comfort, if not elegance, these beautiful outdoor rooms are merely set forth with a few old chairs and maybe a hammock.

Do you like to be well? Then have such a pleasant piazza that you simply can't help spending all your spare moments on it from the first warm day to the last, and you will find that helps.

A more attractive piazza is the social center in summer. The "crowd" inevitably finds its way to the house with the inviting piazza. Wouldn't you rather have young folks come to your home and bring you all the interest and news of life than have young folks always bring with them, than lose to a more attractive home?

"What could I possibly do with a piazza," maybe you say. "What could I possibly do with a piazza," maybe you say. "What could I possibly do with a piazza," maybe you say. "What could I possibly do with a piazza," maybe you say.

BOMB-THROWING IN CHICAGO TO BE STOPPED
A GENERAL VIEW OF THE ALLEY WHERE BOMB NO. 31 WAS EXPLODED

Chicago, July 1.—For over two years the throwing of bombs in the city has been a mystery and this gives added force to the oft-repeated charge that "men higher up know who the bomb-throwers are, but do not care to arrest them for some reason."

Mayor Hines came down from Fox Lake, where he is endeavoring to get a few days' recreation and fame, late in the afternoon and immediately turned the police department topsy-turvy. He gave orders for the police to make a two months' burlough on Shipley's

MODERN WAY OF LIVING

Has a Tendency to Weaken the Strongest.

One hundred years ago there was less kidney trouble than there is today.

The worry, hurry, and overwork of modern living doubles the work of the kidneys, wears and weakens them until unable to properly do their duty of filtering the poisons from the blood. As a result the whole system runs down.

Need the slightest symptom of kidney trouble—the first backache, the first irregularity of the urine. It may be the forerunner of dangerous disease. You can cure yourself quickly with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read the experience of a Janeville citizen.

Chas. W. Allen, living in Janeville, Wis., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and can recommend them as a good kidney and backache remedy and one that can be relied upon. I suffered from kidney trouble for a long time, and although I used different preparations, I received no relief. Finally I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the People's Drug Co. and began their use. In a few days my trouble left and it has never returned."
